Sharing spaces

The land area per person to live and grow food in adequate quantities on earth is a pressing issue that is going to be more focussed upon by agencies that guide the process of planning strategies aimed at delaying a time, where there is a short fall in resources that support various life forms on the planet. Only about thirty percent of the earth's surface consists of dry land while the remaining is covered with water. The exposed land comprises mountains, deserts, plains, plateaus, forests, while the arable land is only 13.31 percent of the land surface, according to knowledgeable sources. At the start of 20th century, human population on the planet was one billion (100 crores). We have now crossed the seven billion mark and show no signs of stopping. Given this alarming population rise, the issue of sharing shrinking per capita liveable spaces looms large upon us. More cities are emerging across the world, resulting in a burgeoning headcount in each city. This leads to inadequate spaces for dwellings, roads, industries and all other infrastructure components. These spaces are essential to sustain economic and social activities of human beings, without encroaching on the habitat of the rest of life forms.

The philosophy of Maha Upanishad that "One is a relative, the other strangers ay the small-minded; the entire world is a family, live the magnanimous," embodied in out-of-favour joint family system has suffered a time-warp, with no signs of revival ahead. At the other extreme is the deepening desire to own spaces in urban areas, at whatever price.

The global scenario is marked by a claim to sovereignty over spaces, defined as distinctly identified countries and intra-countries. The intra-country scenario peculiar to India is marked by a demand of inclusion of more areas in various States, based on language and other factors. The period, after the demarcation of boundaries by the then States Reorganisation Committee, has witnessed a wrangling for more land area by powers that be in respective State governments. This is a mockery of both democracy and the Upanishadic expression, "The world is one family."

Robert Malthus (1766-1834), the English Scholar in the field of political economy, had made a profound statement that the population has a tendency to grow until the economically weaker sections suffered hardship and greater susceptibility to famine and disease. The prophetic view of the classic economist stands unaltered to this day, except in some pockets across the world. The trend of war for spaces within cities in different States and countries defies one's imagination.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

I disagree. Often, but respectfully and non-violently. I also agree, often. My ratio of disagreement to agreement in conversation swings a lot because it depends on circumstances and personal factors at points in time. Agreeable disagreement, however, is not natural to us humans. Through much of history disagreement has led to violent outcomes. Although non-violent resolution of differences had notable advocates in pre-modern times — Gautama Buddha, Ashoka, Greek philosophers, Islamic promoters of ijtihad, among others, come to mind — it is in our modern era that the concept has been incorporated in a frame of rules, laws, norms and social habits that define liberal democracy. The right to free speech is a corollary of a right to disagree. Liberal democracy, which constitutionally enshrines the right to free speech and therefore the right to disagree, is also an acquired attitude. Amartya Sen, among other liberal thinkers, has eloquently argued that an aspiration to democracy is a "universal value." Perhaps, but is it yet a universally internalised aspiration? Democracy has had a good run in the post-World War II era and a wide range of culturally diverse countries have officially embraced it. But in far too many of the most populous nations democracy is in retreat or losing popular appeal.

Mysuru to get New Airport

Karnataka CM agrees to give 300 acres of land, tweets Union Civil Aviation Minister

Mysuru/ Bengaluru, Oct.20 (KMS&BCT)- Karnataka Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy has agreed to give about 300 acres of land for building a new airport in Mysuru, Union Civil Aviation Minister Suresh Prabhu tweeted last evening.

"Met @CMofKarnataka and discussed issues related to aviation. He agreed to give about 300 acres of land for a new airport," tweeted Prabhu after a day-long visit to Mysuru to witness the spectacular Vijaya-dashami procession yesterday.

Since 2010, the Airports Authority of India (AAI) has been operating a smaller airport at Mandakalli with a terminal, apron, Air Traffic Control Tower and a small runaway. "The additional land will enable us to build a full-fledged airport at Mysuru, as it has many tourist attractions and is well located at an equidistance from mini-cities in the region," said Prabhu on the occasion.

Union Civil Aviation Minister Suresh Prabhu and his wife Uma Prabhu seen with Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy, Mysuru District Minister G.T. Devegowda and Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh during their meeting in Mysuru last evening where the Airport issue was discussed.

While Suresh Prabhu has said that it will be a new airport in Mysuru, State Government sources told Star of Mysore this morning that it is not a new airport but the existing airport at Mandakalli will be expanded and developed into an international-standard airport considering the tourism potential of the region.

Sources said that 280 to 300 acres of land will be given by the State for this purpose. After his Dasara visit, Suresh Prabhu had a meeting in Mysuru with CM Kumaraswamy, Mysuru District Minister G.T. Devegowda and Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh late last evening. At the meeting, Kumaraswamy assured Suresh Prabhu of handing over the land to the AAI within three months. Special Land Acquisition Officers will be appointed both from the State and Centre to speed up the land acquisition process and begin land surveys soon.

CM moots year-long events to promote Mysuru Tourism

Mysuru, Oct.20 (OSR)- Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK) said that the State Government is working on a plan to organise cultural events throughout the year in Mysuru to attract tourists. Addressing a press conference here yesterday, he said that lakhs of people thronged the city during Dasara and cultural events and the food mela attracted the people. And so, the government will take measures to organise a variety of events throughout the year. The government has planned to develop the city as a tourism hub by promoting tourist places in and around the Mysuru.

Mysuru, Oct. 20 (OSR&UNI)- It was a rare feast as the magnificent cultural extravaganza unfolded at the Mysore Palace here yesterday signalling the culmination of the 10-day Dasara festivities, known for its grandeur and impressive 'Jumboo Savari' with elephant 'Arjuna' carrying 750-kg Golden Howdah (Ambari) marching majestically to Bannimantap, about 4.5 kms, where Torch Light Parade was held late in the evening.

The procession marked drawing curtains to 'Naada Habba' (State Festival). The Vijayadashami procession symbolising the triumph of good over evil and attraction was inherited from the Vijayanagar emperors. It was indeed a royal and elegant event.

The event showcased the cultural diversity of the State rich with diverse folk art forms. Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy flagged off the procession by offering puja to the traditional 'Nandi Dhwaja' in front of the Mysore Palace and by offering jasmine flowers to Goddess Chamundeshwari, the presiding deity of this heritage city, placed inside the Ambari on Arjuna in front of the imposing Mysore Palace.

Owing to the death of Pramoda Devi's mother yesterday morning, the royal family's adopted scion, Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar, who was to be the chief guest at the parade from the Palace gates, stayed away from the event.

The majestic 58-year-old 'Arjuna' was flanked by kumki elephants Varalakshmi and Cauvery. The other pachyderms that took part in the procession were tastefully decorated and proved to be the cynosure of all eyes. While more than 30,000 people watched the start of the procession inside the Palace premises, lakhs thronged the procession route.Caparisoned Naupat elephant Abhimanyu, Nishane elephant Balarama, joined by pachyderms marched in tandem as onlookers cheered them till they exited the Palace and reached Bannimantap Grounds.

Soon after the ceremonial 21 guns boomed, the procession moved on its 4.5 km journey to Bannimantap on the main thoroughfares of the city. After a perfect start in a bright sunshine to the procession which began with cannon carriages followed by famous folk dances of Puja Kunitha, Suggi Kunitha, Kolaata, Pata Kunitha, Huli Vesha, Chit Mela, Kamsaale, Chitki Bhajan, Dollu Kunitha, Jagga Kelige Kunitha, Garudi puppet and other artists entertained the huge crowd that was seen on the either sides of the roads and those perched on buildings and other high-rise places all along the route.

A break in tradition to facilitate 'Muhurtha'

Probably for the first time, the tradition of sending the Howdah Elephant first was broken, sending the pachyderm between the procession of 42 tableaux and nearly 48 cultural troupes. For decades, the lead elephant carrying the Golden Howdah would make up the tail-end of the procession. This caused a lot of confusion and the Police had a tough time in controlling the crowd.

The procession was fast forwarded for Chief Minister Kumaraswamy enabling him to launch the Jumboo Savari to complete the ritual within scheduled auspicious 'Kumbha Lagna' at 4.13 pm. Thus Arjuna, the Howdah Elephant, which used to be at the end of the procession joined in the middle.

The CM was supposed to offer floral tributes to Goddess Chamundeshwari, placed inside the Howdah, during the Kumbha Lagna between 3.40 pm and 4.10 pm, as per the invitation. However, actually the lagna ended at 4.15 pm.

Arjuna, flanked by Cauvery and Varalakshmi, emerged out of the Palace by 4.45 pm. In the next 15 minutes, the remaining tableaux and the troupes also marched out of the Palace, and the people gathered inside started vacating the place.

Police personnel who had outnumbered the volunteers were seen continuously asking the artistes and tableaux volunteers to move faster. This gave an impression that there were instructions to fast forward the procession because of the delayed 'Muhurtha'.

By the time the Ambari jumbo arrived at Chamaraja Circle, the crowd breached the barricades and poured into the Circle even as the Police watched helplessly. The Police and the Commandos surrounded the elephants with a thick rope.

Usually after Arjuna passes in the procession it is assumed that the procession is over and people start leaving the Palace and the roads. This year, however, Arjuna joined in the middle of the procession and soon after he passed the thoroughfares people started leaving the venues. This too flooded the streets with people leaving the folk troupes and tableaux behind Arjuna and the elephant team stranded.

City Police Chief, DC Clarify

Clarifying about the "Muhurtha" confusion, City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subramanyeswara Rao told Star of Mysore that the time interval between offering puja to Nandi Dhwaja and Goddess Chamundeshwari idol was very less. Also the number of folk troupes and tableaux were more. Hence, to maintain the time schedule and not to unduly retain the 'Ambari' elephant after the puja, the sequence was changed to move the elephant after a few tableaux and folk troupes. He asserted that it was not an error but a need of the hour.

Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar clarified that keeping the elephant in a static state with over 750 kg weight on its back was not good for a long time. Defending the alteration of the sequence of the procession, he said that it was not a breach of protocol.

VOICE OF THE READER

Devanur Lake crying for attention

Sir,

Apropos the news item 'Sudha Murty's Aqua Touch' (SOM dated Oct. 15). The rejuvenation of Hebbal Lake by Infosys Foundation and the District Minister promising to turn it into a tourist spot soon is a pleasant news. This should motivate other Corporates, MUDA and MCC to revive the other water bodies which are dead or dying slowly.

Devanur Lake, which is beautifully located on the main link road between N.R. Mohalla and Rajivnagar, has become an eyesore and is no more than a sewage dump, full of weeds and silt. Pigs, dogs and other stray animals are having a great time feasting in this Lake.

When you pass by this Lake, the stench is unbearable and the filth is such that you automatically turn your head in the other direction. As this Lake has become a breeding ground for mosquitoes, those living in the surroundings are vulnerable to various diseases.

Activists like Mohammed Azhar, Zaheer Ul Haq and others have taken the cause of reviving Devanur Lake in the past but the steam seems to have lost because of total apathy and abject neglect of the authorities.

We are given to understand that some Rs. 5 crore was allotted under Chief Minister's Fund earlier, tender called and works given, but the contractor it seems abandoned the work midway saying that it would be unviable for him? So what happened to the funds? We also learn that Jalavahini Management Services Pvt. Ltd., has prepared a Detailed Project Report (DPR) and submitted it to MUDA, as the responsibility of reviving this Lake has now been entrusted to MUDA?

There is a MUDA Adalat on Nov. 12, which will be presided over by U.T. Khader, the Urban Development Minister. Activists should urge the Minister to mark the boundary of the Lake as per official records, demolish the encroachments, put a fence and revive this Lake as soon as possible.

Generous industrialists and businessmen should come forward to contribute their mite and should feel proud when this Lake is brought to life. Why not try Wipro's Azim Premji under Corporate Social Responsibility?

Can we ask the youths in the area to get organised, channelise their energies and turn around their Mohallas?

Being an MLA of N.R. Constituency and the Lake coming under his jurisdiction, Tanveer Sait's role in this entire project is very important. He should lead from front and take it as a challenge. Residents would surely rally behind him and give him unstinted support.

Jamboree passes off peacefully amidst tight Police security

Police personnel monitoring the procession inside the Mobile Command Centre.

Mysuru, Oct.20(RK, YDS&SR)- The jamboree with caparisoned elephants, cultural troupes and tableaux passed off peacefully without any untoward incident yesterday.

City Police Commissioner Dr. A. S. Rao under the guidance of Home Minister Dr. G. Parameshwara had made elaborate security arrangements for peaceful procession from Mysore Palace till Bannimantap Grounds.

The Department had deployed more than 5,500 Police personnel including 2,500 from other districts to ensure security for the 10-day festivities. The Department had installed metal detectors for the entry to Palace; allowing suspicious vehicles to city only after all security checks at entry points besides barricaded the five-kilometre procession route as a precautionary measure to prevent crowding.

It had also taken enough security measures for protocol maintenance of Chief Minister, Governor, other VIP visitors besides deploying drones, installing CCTVs, Mobile Command Centre, other surveillance cameras for prevention of untoward incidents. KSRP, CAR, DAR, RPF, KSISF, Mounted, Civil, Traffic and Women Police were also deployed apart from Home Guards and other volunteers.

Police announcement

Police were also making announcements cautioning people about thieves, mobile phone lifters and pickpocketeers besides to take care of their children and elders, ensure safety of gold ornaments and other belongings, every 10 minutes along the procession route and at Bannimantap Grounds.

Sudha Murty present on all 10 days

For the first time, a dignitary who inaugurated the Dasara festivities, spent all 10 days in the city, taking part in various programmes. Sudha Murty of Infosys Foundation, who inaugurated the festivities atop the Chamundi Hill on Oct. 10, was present during the grand finale also, along with her family members and close associates. Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy and his wife Anitha Kumaraswamy, Dy. Chief Minister Dr. G. Parameshwara and his wife Kannika Parameshwari were seen with Sudha Murty.

409th Dasara, a regal splendour

The crowd relished the moments and cheered the cultural troupes, basking in a heritage that has the stamp of regal splendour. Dasara marks a highpoint in Mysuru's cultural history even as the heritage buildings, monuments, temples, mosques and churches add to its glorious past.

CROWDS TAKE PHOTOS

Scorching heat did not dampen the spirit and enthusiasm of the crowd that had gathered all along the procession route as early as 10 am to watch the procession which was to be held six hours late. As the procession began, the crowds swelled at almost all vantage points along the route. Interestingly, most people were seen capturing the procession moments — photographs on their mobile phones rather than watching it to upload it on social media and send to their loved ones.

In all, 101 units formed for the procession that included more than 50 troupes of folk dancers, cultural artistes, musicians and many platoons of Police force and various bands that were led by Naadaswara artistes.

Folk troupes from across the State stole the show and youths and children had a rare opportunity to learn about the existing forms of folk art that are slowly vanishing. Remarkably, the energy and enthusiasm of all performing artistes stayed intact up to Bannimantap.

#MeToo

Predators swarm places where there's prey. And that's what happened in the recently held Dasara Street Festival. The well-intentioned Open Street Fest sadly became a hot bed for molesters.

The lack of light and easy access to Police personnel emboldened the perverts. To make matters worse, media and Police instead of debating about how to deal with perverts in public spaces made excuses for them.

As usual the 'western dress' was blamed, then questions were asked, "Why should the girls go out in the night." May be, we need to stop all men from going out at night instead. Because men it seems, as the sun sets, tend to become sexual predators. Of course, not all men are predators... but almost all sexual predators are men.

Most Indian men's attitude towards women is like their civic sense: My house must be clean, but outside the compound let's piss away to our bowel's content. Similarly, Indian men revere their mothers and are protective of their wives and daughters; but other women are game.

Sadly, even when we reprimand men who misbehave with women we ask, "Don't you have a mother or a sister?" And this is a problem because by reiterating this, we are reinforcing the idea that we must respect only women in our family.

Why should men only respect women who are related to them? Why not just say respect women, period. In fact, be respectful of everyone, which is what decent human beings do.

Now, the #MeToo movement is having its moment in India. Like in the US, here too it began essentially as a movement against a predator in the film industry. But it is ironic that while Bollywood people speak about empowering women, the same people make film after film that 'objectify' women.

And the #MeToo movement, while has given the much needed relief to women who were suffocating with the secret of their harassment for years, has also led to reckless naming and shaming. Women who use #MeToo platform for vengeance, to settle scores and defame must be ostracised from the movement because they cause harm to families and dilute the movement.

Like in the case of Chetan Bhagat where a woman accused him of forcing himself on her and harassed her. But when Chetan Bhagat posted her email where she signs off saying, "Miss you. Kiss you" she brushes it aside saying it's just "pop culture salutation" and not a "signal or intention."

But this is grey area. What is salutation to one could be flirtatious to the other. Also no one seems to ask her if she signs off with a "Miss you. Kiss you" to others? Some may ask why not just sign off with a regular "Good bye" instead of an ambiguous salutation?

For now, Chetan Bhagat's accuser, by putting his name on #MeToo list, has lumped him in the same category as a serious sex offender. She has also caused trauma to his wife, two young children and left him to salvage his career. Meanwhile, the accuser continues to lead a peaceful comfortable life.

In the same manner, hair-stylist Sapna Bhavnani warned Amitabh Bachchan, "Your truth will come out very soon. Hope you are biting your hands cuz nails will not be enough." Then she says "He hasn't done anything to me..Clearing this NOW..but i know many that he has."

If that is the case, then this is not her #MeToo story to tell, it is for the women who were abused by Bachchan to do so. So is this a threat to Amitabh Bachchan? What is this? Is there no repercussion for such blatant misuse of free speech?

Women who dilute the #MeToo movement by using it to settle scores and get publicity are hurting women's chances of employment and companionship of good decent men.

Also a few top female actors, while supporting the #MeToo movement, have themselves held back women. Some of the top actresses who speak of Bollywood producers and directors being sexual predators can't even speak Hindi. Most of them have not gone to acting schools. Many of them have never worked in theatre and almost none have previous acting experience. So how do they get lead roles?

These women by using their looks and connections have deprived good roles for worthy women who have gone to acting schools and spent years perfecting their acting skills.

The poor uncompromising actresses end up being cast as the sister of the hero or the sidekick to a sexy starlet. Is this fair?

Why don't feminists call such actresses out? Let's hope the #MeToo movement has scared the producers and directors enough that instead of casting from the couch they will cast from an actual talent pool.

But the women who need a #MeToo movement the most are the lower middle class women of India. These women face sexual predators in every aspect of their lives. It begins in the morning itself when they get on to a bus to get to work. Unfortunately, no one fights for them.

For now, the truth is when it comes to any sexual abuse, only fear of punishment works as deterrent. If an 81-year-old Bill Cosby could be sent to jail for crimes he committed when he was in his 30s, why not here? Even though it seems like a long time between crime and punishment, bygones can't be bygones, if there is proof.

Also women, instead of being blinded by fury, must realise they need good men to help them fight the good fight. Because all men are not predators and all women are not victims.

Cleaning the Mess after the Show

Mysuru, Oct.20 (PM, RK&NNN)- Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Pourakarmikas swung into action from last night itself to clean the muck, garbage and the things lying around all along the four-kilometre Dasara procession route on Sayyaji Rao Road, after the successful completion of the spectacular 409th Dasara celebrations yesterday.

Nearly 30 to 40 pourakarmikas who have been specially deputed to clean the places started work from early in the morning. The barricades and pandals were first removed inside the Palace premises and also near the Chamaraja and K.R. Circles and the whole place was cleaned.

A few of the nearly 42 tableaux that took part in the procession yesterday were still seen parked near Bannimantap Grounds where it concluded. However, about 25-30 tableaux were dismantled and the materials packed. They all returned to different parts of the State from where they had come.

"The cleaning of the city has begun from last night itself as soon as the Dasara procession and Torch Light Parade at Bannimantap was over. It was intensified today and by tomorrow evening the city will be 100 per cent clean," said Corporation Commissioner K.H. Jagadeesha speaking to Star of Mysore, this morning.

He said that almost all the VVIPs, except Union Minister Suresh Prabhu had left last night itself to their respective places. "Suresh Prabhu had come specifically to watch the Dasara celebrations. He is still visiting a few more places of importance and leave the city this afternoon," he said.

The Mysuru City Railway Station saw a little more rush than usual as a few of the tourists were seen leaving in the morning. However, the rush is likely to commence from tomorrow evening and on Monday morning as all the people who have come on holidays will be leaving the city.

The scene was not much different at the Sub-urban Bus Stand except that there were a lot more people here. There was heavy movement of vehicles and people on Bengaluru-Nilgiri Road and Irwin Road as many were seen boarding buses to leave to their destinations while others were on their way to pilgrim centres like Nanjangud and Biligirirangana Betta (BR Hills).

Flower Show ends tomorrow

Nearly four lakh people have attended the Flower Show at Kuppanna Park till yesterday. The show will end tomorrow (Oct.21) at 9 pm. There was hardly anyone who was disappointed after seeing the various attractions as they thronged the place from early in the morning till late in the night.

The Ashoka Pillar opposite Glass House was one of the major attractions. About 74,000 roses have been used which includes the roses that were changed once in the eleven-day show. Nearly 30,000 roses were used to decorate the tea kettle with cup. The other attractions include the playgrounds and amusement centres. The flower show is open from 9 am to 9.30 pm on the last day tomorrow.

Meanwhile, tourists continued to throng the city today also as it is the holiday season and tomorrow being Sunday they are visiting many tourist places of importance.

Despite warning, people clamber atop trees, buildings

Mysuru, Oct. 20 (RKB&US)- The warning issued by the MCC Commissioner asking people not to climb on top of heritage and dilapidated buildings, hoardings and trees seems to have gone unheeded as many people had openly ignored the warning during the Jumboo Savari last evening.

A lot of people were seen precariously sitting on dilapidated buildings of Devaraja Market. They had not spared advertisement hoardings, trees in Town Hall premises and at parks near by.

Women and Children seated at K.R. Circle, Chamaraja Circle and other junctions were seen screaming and shouting when being pushed from behind by unruly crowd. The women were seen pleading Police personnel for help who also stood helpless.

RUSH FOR FOOD

Waiting for hours before the procession commenced, the people after the passage of the howdah-bearing elephant and tableaux made a hurried entry to food joints to grab whatever they could to satiate the hunger. Obviously wine shops nearby too witnessed heavy rush.

SPECIAL GALLERY

Hundreds of foreign tourists from Spain, France, Britain, New Zealand, Australia, USA and students from other countries studying or getting trained in Mysuru watched Jumboo Savari sitting in the gallery specially erected by Kalpavruksha Trust and Dr. Rajashekar Medical Foundation at Ayurveda College Circle.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN DIES

An unidentified man who collapsed was rushed to K.R. Hospital but was pronounced brought dead. Three people who received minor injuries possibly caught in the rush were provided first aid, according to doctors of Department of Health and Family Welfare.

Ordeal of ambulance: Around 3pm yesterday an ambulance coming on Irwin Road carrying a patient got stuck at Ayurveda College Circle as the Police were unable to make way for the ambulance through the surging crowd. However the Police managed to send the ambulance through an alternative road.

Two royal family members die on Vijayadashami Day

Pramoda Devi's mother Puttarathnammanni and sister-in-law Vishalakshi Devi no more; Pall of gloom descends on Mysore Palace

Mysuru, Oct.20 (MTY&NNN)- A pall of gloom descended on the members of the erstwhile royal family of Mysuru, the Wadiyars, on Vijayadashami, the tenth day of Dasara celebrations, as two from the family passed away yesterday (Oct.19).

First it was Puttarathnammanni (98), mother of Pramoda Devi Wadiyar, wife of late Srikantadatta Narasimharaja Wadiyar, who passed away early in the morning. Even as the news of her passing spread, the private celebrations of Vijayadashami by the royal family in the Mysore Palace stood suspended.

She died at a private hospital and later her body was brought to the Summer Palace adjoining the Mysuru Zoo, where it was kept for viewing to very close members of the royal family and others close to the family.

Pramoda Devi Wadiyar, who was in complete control of her emotions, oversaw all the funeral arrangements. Later, the body was taken to Madhuvana, the royal cemetery on Nanjangud Road where the last rites were performed by Pramoda Devi Wadiyar's cousin's son (from her father's side) Shravan Kumar, who was staying with her mother.

Puttarathnammanni was ailing for quite some time of age related diseases. "She had shown signs of recovery on Thursday (Oct.18) and everyone hoped that she would pull through this time also. Hence, Pramoda Devi Wadiyar had even gone to see her ailing sister-in-law Vishalakshi Devi in Bengaluru. However, she breathed her last on Vijayadashmi day early in the morning," said one of the members of the royal family, speaking to Star of Mysore.

Puttarathnammanni

Vishalakshi Devi

Puttarathnammanni was the eldest daughter of Tripurasundarammanni and Sanjeev Raj Urs. She was married to Venugopal Raj Urs of Chikkaramane, a branch of Bettada Kote family. Pramoda Devi Wadiyar was her only child.

Vishalakshi Devi

Even as the funeral of Puttarathnammanni was completed, came one more blow to the family members. Vishalakshi Devi (56), the youngest daughter of the last ruler of Mysore, Jayachamarajendra Wadiyar and the youngest sister of the last scion Srikantadatta Narasimharaja Wadiyar, who was ailing for some time, passed away in Bengaluru at a private hospital around 4.30 pm.

Vishalakshi was married to Gajendra Singh Auwa. She leaves behind her husband and two children, Rudrapratap Singh and Shruti Singh, and grandchildren.

Last rites today

The body of Vishalakshi Devi was brought from Bengaluru to Mysuru this afternoon. The last rites were performed at Madhuvana with all religious rituals.

Both the deceased royal family members were given State funeral.

Yaduveer Wadiyar condoles

Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar has condoled the death of both his grandmother Puttarathnammanni and aunt Vishalakshi Devi.

In a Facebook post, he condoled his grandmother's death thus:

Dear Friends,

It is with immense sadness that I inform you of the passing of my Grandmother, Smt. Puttarathnammanniavaru...

...Her passing leaves a deep void in all the lives she touched...

And in the evening he wrote about his aunt Vishalakshi Devi thus: Dear Friends,

It is with deep sadness that I convey the passing of my Aunt, Princess Vishalakshi Devi.

...Like her father, she devoted much of her life to preservation of wildlife. Her contribution to this field was immense, having helped not only raise, but also restore several leopards back to their wild habitat. She also raised several elephants that are now at various elephant camps in the forest.

My best memories of our jungles are of time spent with her. My favourite memories are listening to her wildlife stories by fireside in Bandipur...

A wildlife lover...

Vishalakshi Devi was very fond of wildlife. She and her husband Gajendra Singh had even setup 'Tusker Trails,' a wildlife resort on the borders of Bandipur, a few years ago.

It may be recalled that the Forest Department had given them two leopard cubs, which Vishalakshi Devi and Gajendra Singh named Baby and Bully and reared them. Once the cubs grew, they were released into the forest.

"It was my wife Visha who really nurtured Baby and Bully like children. They were so fond of her that they always used to play with her with gay abandon whenever she came from Bengaluru to be with them. Finally, we had to release the leopards into the wild for them to be with their own members. She was also fond of elephants and nurtured them too," said an emotional Gajendra Singh, speaking to Star of Mysore last evening.

Vijayadashami at Mysore Palace on Oct.22

The Akhada which was ready for Vajramushti Kalaga that has now been postponed to Oct.22. Jattis who were ready for the Kalaga. Adda Pallakki, which was supposed to carry Pattadakathi before Yaduveer's 'Vijaya Yatre' which was suspended due to the death of royal family members.

The Vijayadashami celebrations, which were to be held yesterday at the Mysore Palace by the royal family, were postponed following the death of two of their members on the same day.

Now, the celebrations will be held on Oct.22 that will include all the rituals.

Pramoda Devi Wadiyar, speaking to Star of Mysore here this morning, said: "There seems to be some speculation regarding calling off yesterday's Vijayadashami rituals. This decision was taken in consultation with the family Guru Mutt and priests whose advice is sought at times and extraordinary circumstances such as this. The rituals will be concluded on Oct. 22."

Asked whether Vajramushti Kalaga will be held, she said, "As regards Vajramushti Kalaga, the practice is, it happens after Uttara Puja to Ayudhas. In view of Uttara Puja being observed on October 22, the Jattis have been informed of the change in date due to unforeseen and extraordinary circumstances."

After 400 years death in the royal family during Dasara: The Mysore royal family's titular head Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar, speaking to Star of Mysore yesterday, said: "This is probably the first time that a death has occurred in the royal family after nearly 400 years during Dasara. It is said that it was Raja Wadiyar's son who had died in 1610 on Ayudha Pooja day, the end of Navaratri celebrations. However, we have to ascertain this fact yet."

He also said that he had cancelled all his official functions, as there was mourning in the family and even told the Government officials that he could not be a part of the inauguration of the Dasara procession at the Mysore Palace.

"I had finished the Navaratri rituals on Ayudha Puja day after removing the Kankana (thread tied to the wrist) and the visarjana of Simhasana. Vijayadashami is the ritual of performing pujas for the victory of good over the evil. This part I will be performing on Oct.22," he said.

Brindavan Gardens to witness more footfalls today, tomorrow

Mysuru, Oct.20 (RK&DM)- With the ten-day Dasara festival ending with the grand Vijayadashami procession yesterday, the KRS Dam and its Brindavan Gardens in Srirangapatna taluk is expected to see a huge jump in footfalls this weekend (today and tomorrow).

While the KRS recorded 19,000 visitors on Ayudha Puja Day (Oct.18), 22,000 tourists visited the Dam on Vijayadashami Day yesterday (Oct.19) and the number of tourists may shoot up to 30,000 today and 35,000 tomorrow, according to sources.

With huge footfalls expected at the Dam, more number of staff of Cauvery Neeravari Nigam Limited (CNNL), the Horticulture Department and the Tourism department, have been camping at the Dam site to guide and direct the tourists.

Police Personnel too are deployed in large numbers to ensure safety and security of tourists.

The Dam has been recording a steady inflow of water following copious rainfall in catchment areas of Kodagu district early this week, according to Irrigation Department sources.

The water level was recorded at the maximum level of 124.80ft today, with an inflow of 10.598 cusecs and outflow of 11,988 cusecs yesterday.

Promoting Mysuru Tourism

He said that tourist places such as Kodagu, Melukote, Somanathapura and Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) will be developed to evolve Mysuru as a must-visit tourist destination.

KRS is one of the major attractions and it will be developed on the lines of Disneyland. "Cultural events too attract a large number of people. Hence, the government will organise cultural events on the lines of Dasara programme every Saturdays and Sundays. If Mysuru is developed into a tourist hub, tourism can provide employment to the youth and be a source of livelihood to several families," he said.

Kumaraswamy said he had directed Minister for Tourism S.R. Mahesh and other officials to prepare a blueprint for attracting tourists to the city in large numbers throughout the year instead of just during Dasara.

"Dasara drew impressive crowds this year with officials estimating that more 20 to 25 lakh people visited Mysuru in the last ten days. The Flower Show alone had attracted more than 4.5 lakh visitors while Brindavan Gardens drew more than a lakh on Oct. 18. Similarly, the cultural programmes organised at Mysuru Palace, besides the music programmes at Maharaja's College Grounds as part of Yuva Dasara also attracted many," the CM said.

The illumination of the city's heritage structures and the main thoroughfares was also enjoyed by a large number of visitors as well as locals during the festivities. This year, the Department of Energy had illuminated almost 60 kms of roads in the city, he added.

BENGALURU-MYSURU NATIONAL HIGHWAY

Eager on early completion of the work on expanding Bengaluru-Mysuru National Highway, Kumaraswamy said the State Government will pressurise the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) for time-bound completion of the work.

He said a meeting had been convened to expedite the work. The four-lane road will be expanded into a six lanes, besides two lanes of service roads on either side. "We want the 10-lane highway completed in a time-bound manner," the CM said.

When asked about the Bengaluru Mysuru Infrastructure Corridor (BMIC), he said the meeting scheduled for Saturday will decide. "But, the project (BMIC) cannot be taken forward in the present form," Kumaraswamy added.

VVIPs visit Chamundi Hill

Mysuru, Oct. 20 (MTY&SR)- Thousands of devotees, visitors and tourists thronged atop Chamundi Hill this morning a day after Jumboo Savari procession last evening.

Union Minister of Civil Aviation Suresh Prabhu, the 29th Chief Justice of High Court of Karnataka Justice Dinesh Maheshwari, High Court Justice B.V. Nagarathna and other prominent personalities also visited the temple.

Visitors from neighbouring Andhra Pradesh, Telangana, Kerala and Tamil Nadu visited the temple in large numbers to seek the blessings of Goddes Chamundeshwari, the presiding deity of the city besides to see the beauty of the hills. Various artistes who had taken part in Dasara Cultural Troupes also paid visit to temple in huge numbers.

Police made all arrangements for free flow of traffic and parking of vehicles for a hassle-free VIP movement.

Mysuru to get New Airport

Money, project report ready, says Pratap Simha

Sources said that while building an international-standard airport, the basic plan of the existing airport will be altered where over 30 acres coming under Marase village (near the existing airport) will be left out and alternative land will be acquired.

Confirming the meeting between Prabhu and Kumaraswamy in Mysuru, the Chief Minister's Office shared with the media a picture of the two with G.T. Devegowda and S.R. Mahesh. "We shall fulfil our PM Shri @narendramodiji's Mission," said Suresh Prabhu in another tweet.

MP REACTS

Reacting on Suresh Prabhu's tweet on the new airport, Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha said that the money and the project report was ready and the expansion of the Mysore Airport will depend on how fast the State Government acquires the land.

Pratap Simha

"It is a Rs. 700 crore project (excluding the land acquisition costs that have to be footed by the State Government) and we are ready with the project report and the money. Rs. 700 crore has already been sanctioned by the Union Civil Aviation Ministry for the expansion of Mysore Airport runway enabling bigger flights like Airbus to land," he said.

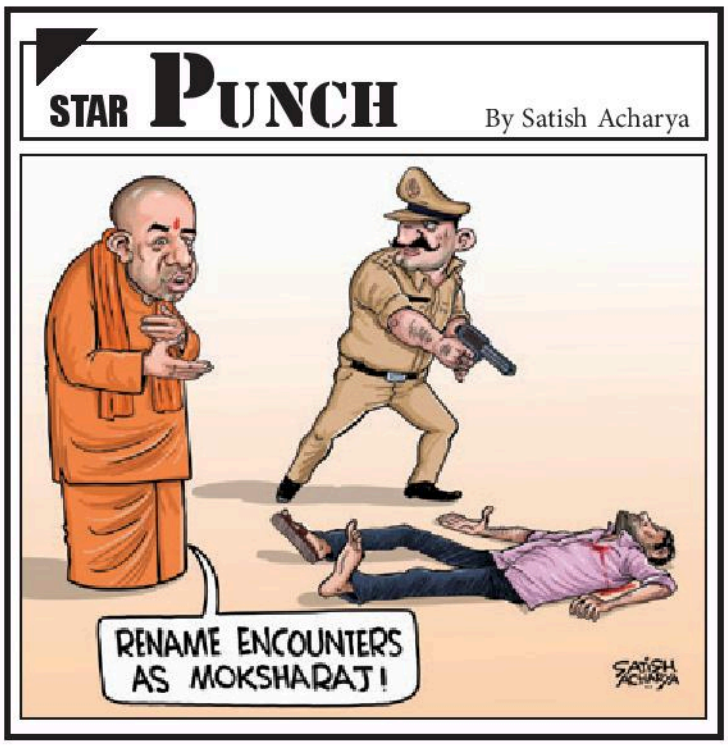
Pratap Simha said that the land for runway expansion has to be done by the State through Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board (KIADB). "There is some issue in land acquisition of over 30 acres of land at Marase village and that land must be left out," he said.

Dasara special flights to end today

Mysuru, Oct. 20 (RK&BCT)- Even as the discussion is on to build a new airport in Mysuru or to expand the existing Mysore Airport to international-standard one, the special flight service between Mysuru and Bengaluru will end today.

There will be no flights to from Mysore Airport to Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) Bengaluru from tomorrow and the reason is lack of occupancy. The existing lone TruJet flight from Mysuru to Chennai and Hyderabad will, however, continue.

The Karnataka State Tourism Development Corporation and the State Tourism Department collaborated with Air India and the Air India had agreed to operate its Alliance Air flight services between the two cities at subsidised fares. Depending on the response to the Alliance Air operations, the State government had planned to extend the flight services. The initial response was good but it declined later. "For six days from the date of operations the service recorded full occupancy but gradually, the occupancy reduced to less than half," sources said.



HDK, Sudha Murty inspect Hebbal Lake

Mysuru, Oct.20- Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK), accompanied by Infosys Foundation Chairperson Sudha Murty, inspected the rejuvenated Hebbal Lake in city on Thursday.

The Lake, being revived by Infosys Foundation, is spread across an area of 48 acres. It had been gasping for life, choking with flow of sewage before the Infosys Foundation intervened to revive the water body at a cost of Rs. 30 crore. Kumaraswamy, looking at the revived Lake, directed all the authorities concerned to ensure that sewage did not enter the Lake.

"Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board (KIADB), Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) and Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) must make efforts to prevent flow of sewage into the Lake," he said.

Meanwhile, Secretary of Mysore Industries Association (MIA) Suresh Kumar Jain said that factories accounted for very little of the sewage let into the Lake. "Most of the sewage is domestic and waste released by nearby hotels, dhabas and schools," he added.

It may be recalled, District Minister G.T. Devegowda, accompanied by Sudha Murty, DC Abhiram G. Sankar, MCC Commissioner K.H. Jagadeesha and other officials inspected the Lake on Oct. 15. Hebbal Lake is near Infosys Mysuru Campus and the Lake which was once a thriving water body got polluted over the years and is now surrounded by housing blocks and industries.

Two years back, the District Administration and the MCC had signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with Infosys Foundation for conservation and restoration of this Lake. As per the MoU, Infosys promised to develop the Lake, besides maintain the Lake for five years and later hand it over to MCC.

Later speaking to reporters on the sidelines of the inauguration of Dasara Darshan, GTD had said that the Lake would be developed as a tourist spot after discussions with the CM.

Congress, JD(S) leaders hold joint press meet

H.D. Deve Gowda

Siddharamaiah

Bengaluru, Oct. 20- In a bid to dismiss reports that all is not well between the ruling JD(S)-Congress coalition partners, top leaders of both the parties held a press meet at a private hotel here this morning.

This was the first platform where former CM Siddharamaiah of the Congress and JD(S) Supremo H.D. Deve Gowda came together in over a decade, after Siddharamaiah quit the JD(S) in 2006 to join the Congress.

Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy, KPCC President Dinesh Gundu Rao, Deputy CM Dr. G. Parameshawara, water Resources Minister D.K. Shivakumar were the other top leaders who addressed the meet, which has assumed significance in the wake of Nov. 3 by-poll to three LS seats and two Assembly constituencies in the State.

Addressing the press meet first, former CM and MLA Siddharamaiah, expressed confidence that the coalition partners would win all the five seats going to the by-polls on Nov. 3.

Siddharamaiah maintained that opposition unity has started from Karnataka and will be taken forward to all India level as Lok Sabha polls near.

Pointing out that the Congress which is contesting the Balari Lok Sabha by-poll and Jamkhandi assembly by-poll, the former CM said that the Congress has extended support to the JD(S) in Shivamogga and Mandya LS by poll and Ramanagaram assembly segment as per a mutual understanding. Reiterating that the JD(S)- Congress combine will bag all the five seats, the former CM claimed that the outcome of the Nov.3 by polls will be an indicator for the 2019 LS polls.

Kumaraswamy, who was the second to address the press meet, called for an organised campaign between the workers of two parties for ensuring victory in by polls. Emphasising on the need to keep BJP out of power, he observed that the by-polls was a litmus test for opposition unity ahead of the 2019 LS polls.

Even as the leaders were addressing the press meet, the sad news of the demise of Thontadarya Siddalingaswami of Gadag came, following which a two-minute silence was observed as a mark of respect to the departed seer.

Echo of harassment complaints

HDK to seek public opinion on holding Open Street Fest

Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy, flanked by District Minister G.T. Devegowda and Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh addressing a press meet at Lalitha Mahal Palace Hotel yesterday.

Mysuru, Oct. 20 (OSR)- Following several incidents of sexual harassment as reported in the media and in various social media platforms, Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy said the State Government will review the conduct of the Open Street Festival if public opinion was against holding such events.

The festival, held last Saturday (Oct. 13) at Krishnaraja Boulevard as part of Dasara, was marred by incidents of harassment of women including alleged molestation, and stalking. Women took to social media to express their anguish and anger at the arrangements made by the authorities concerned.

Many women and girls expressed outrage over molestation they had allegedly experienced.

Speaking to reporters in city yesterday, Kumaraswamy expressed regret on behalf of the State Government for the instances of harassment. "I have directed the Police to take precautions in future to prevent recurrence of such incidents," he said.

"It was unfortunate and such incidents should not have happened. We have taken a serious note of the sexual harassment of women and we will call for public opinion on whether to continue the street festival or not. If people oppose, then the event will be stopped," Kumaraswamy said.

"Mysuru city has its own identity and such incidents would damage the dignity of the Heritage City. We have considered the issue seriously," the CM said and added that the government was committed to ensuring the safety of every individual.

Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh said that the event was organised to attract tourists and nearly 1.25 lakh people thronged event which led to some unsavoury incidents. "We included the festival as it was held last year too. It was to allow local artisans, traders and cottage industries, who are unable to pay and book stalls at the Dasara exhibition, an opportunity to showcase and sell their wares," he said.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Public is hereby informed of the fact that my clients (1) Smt. Indira Thimmaiah, (2) Dr. Reshma Usman and (3) Mr. Saheeb Ahmed Khan are the owners of the plot bearing No 200/3D, Assessment No 69, Vijayanagar 1st Stage, Mysuru-17. A Joint Development Agreement came into being between my clients on the one side and Pathak Constructions, Rep. by Jayaram Pathak further represented by Srihari Pathak as the General Power of Attorney holder the other. Simultaneously a General Power of Attorney dated 26-6-2008 came to be secured by Jayaram Pathak. Jayaram Pathak attempted to deal with the owners share of the Apartments. My clients approached Jayaram Pathak. Having realized his mistake, Jayaram Pathak on 8-8-2012 executed a Sharing Agreement wherein he undertook not to deal with my clients share of the Apartments.

In tune with the same, a supplemental Agreement dated 28-10-2013 came to be executed wherein also Jayaram Pathak undertook to respect my clients rights in relation to their share of the Apartments. Even in the presence of such undertaking my clients found out that Jayaram Pathak was attempting to deal with our share of the Apartments with third parties. My clients filed a suit in O.S.No.1169/2014 on the file of The Fourth Additional Senior Civil Judge, Mysuru, in the presence of serious fraud played by Jayaram Pathak and in the absence of any dispute.

During initial stages the court held that the suit was maintainable and the matter will have to be tried on its merits.

However, later the court has held that in the presence of an Arbitration Agreement the suit filed by my clients is disposed off. My clients have decided to challenge the said order and the same is in progress.

In the mean time, it is observed that Jayaram Pathak is contemplating to misuse the situation in trying to deal with the schedule mentioned Apartments, they being the share of my clients in the absence of my clients.

Public is cautioned of any attempt made by it in transacting directly with Jayaram Pathak in relation to the schedule mentioned Apartments. Such attempt if made will not bind our clients interest in relation to the schedule mentioned Apartments.

The following Apartments described in the Condominium Pratham, May Flower, situated at Vijayanagar 1st Stage, Mysuru-17
